

You Never Get a Second Chance to Make a First Impression

Snail Trail alias Slak Twak.

What are singles looking for appearance-wise? Remember, you never get a second chance to make a first impression!

Men are very visually oriented. They will usually make up their minds within twenty seconds whether they are interested in a woman or not. They actually admit that they look at things like personality later. And 99.9% of the men all say that they do not want to meet an overweight woman! Weight is a big issue for men. For them, sexual chemistry is either there or not there. They are not like women, and most of them do not believe in giving it time. Every now and then I get a phone call from one of my female clients to say that she had a wonderful first date with x, but cannot understand why he has not contacted her again. I can see that he obviously only liked her as a friend, and that the sexual chemistry was not there for him. In a case like this, the woman must realise that men are different, love them for it, and move on. She is walking in a fools' paradise if she thinks that with time he will develop sexual chemistry for her. In practice this simply does not happen. "Elke pot het 'n deksel", and there are enough other people out there for you to meet someone who finds you appealing.

Most women, on the other hand, will still give a man a chance. For instance, a woman may wait to see how a man behaves in different circumstances or how he treats her before she finally makes up her mind. She will often accept it if a man is bald or if he has a bit of a tummy. Of importance to a woman, is that a man is kind and that he makes her laugh.

If you want to meet someone nice, you yourself must be marketable. Start with your appearance. A man wants to meet a FEMININE woman. A surprising amount of men look at FEET! Two things that put women off are men with huge big stomachs and men who drink too much. Now and then I interview a man with a big paunch who wants to meet a petite woman! And he doesn't realise that a petite woman would not want to meet him! For the reasons mentioned, I find it difficult to work with overweight people, and do not accept them onto my books, as it would be unfair to take their money and then have nobody to introduce them to.

I hope that the above information will be useful to you in your search for your soulmate.
